The Adaptor Project

Enable your students to get ready for work and life

Educators play a critical role in developing and supporting young people's transition to an increasingly complex and uncertain workplace – one that demands new skills, tools and mindset to help flourish.

The Adaptor Project (TAP) provides the toolkit to design and deliver exceptional enterprise learning experiences, that better prepare students for the modern economy. This professional development opportunity is suitable for K-12, VET, VCAL or general high school educators across all disciplines who are enthusiastic about incorporating enterprise skills, tools and mindsets into their classrooms, institutions and programs.

Applications for March 2021 intake is now open.
