

JOIN THE NEXT GENERATION OF URBAN LEADERS.

Emerging Leaders

Join the next generation of city leaders

The program

EIT Urban Mobility Emerging Leaders is a pioneering, participant-led program designed to empower the next generation of city leaders to drive sustainable urban change.

This six-month program brings together 8-10 emerging leaders from cities and public authorities across Europe, equipping them with invaluable skills to navigate and innovate within an evolving urban landscape.

Participant profile

The EIT Urban Mobility Emerging Leaders program has been designed for the future leaders of our cities. Participants must be:

- Individuals working in a city council, public transport authority or related public entity
- Mid to senior-level role, either a technical or strategic position
- Based in a European city or metropolitan area with a population of 300,000 or more
- Actively engaged in urban transformation initiatives

Why join EIT Urban Mobility Emerging Leaders?

- Boost your career by developing leadership skills to shape the future of your city.
- Expand your influence by engaging effectively with policymakers and stakeholders.
- Join a network of changemakers in a growing community committed to urban innovation.

Our 2024 cohort

The first edition of the program which launched in Barcelona in May 2024, set the stage for transformative experiences in seven cities across Europe.

The second edition will start in Spring 2025 welcoming a new cohort of emerging leaders
